Fate of Castings Division Is To Be Decided, Appears Dim

"While five of the seven divisions of General Steel Industries, Inc., are operating profitably, the company incurred a net loss of $1,068,000, or 43 cents per share of common stock, on sales of $46,591,000 in the third quarter," W. Ashley Gray Jr., president, said Wednesday.

These figures compare with net sales of $18,928,000 and a net loss for that period of $984,000, or 39 cents per share.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30 were $118,912,000 and a net loss for that period of $2,227,000, or 88 cents per share.

"GSI is confronted with the problems at our St. Louis Car and Casting Divisions as previously reported to our stockholders," Gray said.

"Attempts to turn the company's unprofitable operations this year have been nullified by two factors."

One is the impact of a serious and continuing deterioration of market prospects for the Castings Division, which is operating well below the break-even point.

The other consists of operating losses at the St. Louis Car Division and the inability of this division to meet its financial obligations for transit car construction.

"Our five other divisions are operating successfully and all are seen as consistent contributors to GSI's future earnings."

"In view of the continued losses at the Castings Division in Granite City and the Car Division in north St. Louis, where the combined employment is approximately 1,860, GSI's management is considering whether or not to continue to operate those two plants after existing financial obligations are satisfied or adjusted."

"We are exploring all possible alternatives — including the sale of one or both plants or joint venture opportunities."

"It is expected a decision of directors will reach a decision before the end of the year."

Gray explained that discontinuing operations at these locations and writing off GSI's investments in the two divisions could result in an extraordinary, non-recurring charge for 1972 of approximately $1,000,000 based on preliminary estimates.

He emphasized that a decision to discontinue operations at these two divisions "would allow the company, with its five remaining divisions, to operate profitably and successfully in the future."

"While GSI's five other divisions are expected to show a profit of approximately $3,000,000 for 1972," Gray said, "the Castings and St. Louis Car Divisions will show a combined pre-tax operating loss for the year of approximately $7,500,000."

"Thus, GSI expects to incur a loss from operations for the year."

37,677 Ready to Vote; New High

A total of 37,677 Quad-Citians registered to vote in the Nov. 7 general election, a gain of 2,203 voters over the registration of the 1970 general election and a jump of 11,673 voter registrations during the past eight years.

County Clerk Eulalia Horz, in answer to a question regarding figures for this year's election, said a substantial increase also was recorded countywide.

A total of 131,000 persons are registered to vote in the county's 24 townships, a rise of 16,206 registrations over those of 1970 which totaled 120,695.

The new registrations for the Quad-City area include 20,447 in Granite City, up from 13,386 the year ago; 7,027 in Nameoki Township, up from 5,533 in 1970; 6,238 in Venice Township, up slightly from 6,214, and 3,965 in Chouteau Township, up from 3,821.

Total registration of voters in the Quad-Cities has increased steadily since the 1964 general election when there were 16,061 registrations in Granite City, 5,732 in Venice Township, 3,398 in Nameoki Township and 3,385 in Chouteau Township for a total of 26,004.

County Up 21,000

Registration throughout Madison County's 24 townships for the general election was approximately 110,000. Thus this year's countywide registration of 131,000 is an increase of 21,000 during the past eight years.

Miss Horz said the largest increase in the county is Collierville Pet. 13 with 13,150 registered voters.

It was interesting to note in the new figures that there are 92,655 registered voters in the 23rd congressional district, which includes the Quad-Cities, while there are 35,336 regis-

UF Receipts Slowing, Top 67%

By GARY SCHNEIDER

The rate of arrival of Tri-Cities United Fund receipts and pledged swelled this week although reaching $277,649. This is 67% of the drive goal of $412,667.

Speaking at yesterday's report luncheon at the YMCA, Paul H. Kelly, general campaign chairman, said the level that has been reached so far is "somewhat disappointing."

No specific date has been set for the next report meeting. He commented, "There is no point in holding another meeting until we have accomplished something."

A major effort is being made to contact some of those potential sources of funds which have not yet been contacted and to urge others to increase their efforts toward meeting the goal, Kelly told campaign workers at yesterday's meeting. "On Tuesday we will be meeting with contractors and business people to seek increased pledges. Our hope is that this and other efforts will boost us over the top," he said.

"The reason we are publicizing the percentages we have obtained is that there still are people who are not pledged," he said. "If they see the example that others are setting, they may be inclined to do likewise."

"This campaign is not over by a long sight," Kelly vowed. He urged that all workers increase their efforts toward meeting the goal.

It took 41 days at the Shrine's Burns Hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio, to transform a pale, wan and seriously burned little boy into a smiling, glowing child ready to try to walk and return to school.

Anthony McCrea, 9, returned home Monday evening from the Shriner's hospital, standing upright on his scarred but healing legs, the boy two days earlier having been flown by chartered plane to the Shriner's facility in Ohio.

He had undergone six operations and his condition was good and it was now apparent to some people that he needed the skills and intensive care available from medical personnel at the life-restoring hospital.

Anthony's medical history drew the interest of many area residents after a brief item appeared in the Sept. 11 issue of the Press-Record, seeking a partner to help him and needed someone to cheer him up by sending cards.

Shrine members had been to the boy's accident and recovery condition some time earlier but could not obtain permission to transfer him to Cincinnati.

SITUATION CHANGES. Anthony's medical condition had improved rapidly, however, as the efforts of Shriner's and a local doctor, a fast decision was made and the boy was enroute by ambulance plane to Ohio two days earlier to undergo surgery.

A scheduled appearance in St. Louis by R. Sargent Shriner, McCrea's running mate, is still planned for Sunday afternoon.

The local campaign stop was announced Monday. However, he decided Tuesday afternoon to remain in Detroit to tape a national television program, rather than taping it in St. Louis.

A scheduled appearance in St. Louis by R. Sargent Shriner, McCrea's running mate, is still planned for Sunday afternoon.

McGovern May Stop Here Later

Senator George McGovern, Democratic presidential nominee, canceled today's talk to a proposed breakfast gathering of more than 700 persons at SIEU.

But there is a possibility he may stop in the St. Louis metropolitan area next week, a spokesman said.

Biographies and pictures of candidates standing in the Nov. 7 general election are being published by the Press-Record starting today, on Pages 33 and 48.

Similar information on the remaining candidates will be presented next week.

Quad-Citians will be voting this fall on the President and Vice-President, as well as U.S. senator, representative, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general and state attorney general and state comptroller.

Honeysuckle vines will soon overgrow with weeds, presenting a general eyesore, it was pointed out at the council meeting.

Planting work under the advice of a nursery representative will be conducted by the city, which is to prevent the plants from spreading toward or through the drainage ditch.

Occasional pruning along the fence and occasional mowing between the fence and the street were advised.

The city is to remove weeds, vines and tree stumps between the fence and the planting.

In a letter to the council, Edmonds said the vines should create a solid evergreen wall about 10 feet wide within a year or two.

Edmonds also said that Granite City Steel Co. is considering a number of future landscaping ideas.

Realtors Favor Freeze on Real Estate Taxes

Realtor Francis E. Judd, president of the Granite City Board of Realtors, today announced support of Governor Richard Ogilvie's recommendation to freeze real estate taxes in Illinois.

The 13,000-member Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards, which favors a freeze in favor of this kind of action, and has urged relief of the property tax burden in one form or another. The Granite City Board is a member of the Illinois Association.

President Judd commented that "government must find other sources for financing the vast array of services provided to the public." The main theme is "Calling Our Continent To Christ" which is divided into six phases, each covering a given span of time, beginning the first of December, 1972, and continuing throughout 1973.

"They have reached a point where higher taxes would make it impractical for many small property owners to continue ownership of their real estate. Real estate owners can no longer afford to be at the top of the priority list for tax increases when government, at any level, needs more money to finance a new or broadened project."

Realtor Vinton Penick, 1973 president of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards, issued a similar statement, and added that monies coming from federal government to sharing programs will give county and local governments, in particular, more money than they have received in the past.

The ideal situation, he said, would be for those governments to cut real estate taxes by a certain percentage of the amounts received from tax sharing programs.

Members of the Granite City Board of Realtors are being urged by Judd to contact legislators and urge support of the freeze.

Judd said he also hopes that property owners in the area will personally contact their legislators and urge support of the freeze. "This is what real estate people and property owners have been waiting for," he said.

Churches Set Key '73 Workshop Here Sunday

Clergy and laymen from Quad-Cities area churches will meet at 2 p.m. Sunday at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, to prepare themselves for "The Year of the Lord."

The workshop is for all Protestant, Orthodox and Catholic clergy and one layman from each church.

Key 73 is a continental-wide evangelism thrust in which 130 denominations, church bodies and para-ecclesiastical groups participate. The program started five years ago at a motel near the Francis Scott Key Bridge in Washington, D.C.

The purpose of Key 73 is to confront the people of America with the gospel of Jesus Christ by proclamation, demonstration, witness and ministry in both public and private areas.

A committee of six ministers of the area, each responsible for one phase of the program, has planned the workshop to initiate and develop further ideas.

The committee includes the Rev. Dr. Paul Surbey, St. John United Church of Christ; the Rev. Alan Scott, Assembly of God; the Rev. Gene Stevenson, Central Free Methodist Church; the Rev. Bill Fester, Nemoek Methodist Church; the Rev. Robert Kettell, St. Peter United Church of Christ; and Rev. Roy Ellis Seals, Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church.

Workshop plans will be presented by the six area pastors. No advance reservations are needed. The meeting will adjourn at 4 p.m.

Stolen SIUE Video Tape Equipment Recovered

A video tape recorder, camera and adaptor, valued at about $800, were recovered by Madison police at 4 p.m. Monday after it was stolen from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsburg.

Andrew Economy, operator of Lee & Andy's Garage, 1330 Madison Ave., called police and said a man had left the video units as collateral for work done on two cars until he could pay the bills. Economy said he noticed the SIU stamp on the equipment and suspected the equipment had been stolen.

"I called him at the hospital first, and he said to me 'Guess what? Momma's coming home with you,'" Mrs. McCrea reported. "The next thing he told me was that he could stand up. I could hardly believe it," she said.

Before returning to Granite City, Mrs. McCrea was taught by therapists at the hospital how to bathe and apply medication to her son's injured legs.

She also learned proper techniques of splinting his left foot and right leg, necessary during the night-time hours. In the daytime, his legs are covered with elasticized bandages.

A check for $1,050 was presented to the UF leadership at the meeting by Thomas Reach, a business representative of International Association of Machinists District 9; it was a contribution from all of the business representatives in the St. Louis area.

Kelly said he is encouraged by several developments during the week, including increased pledges and contributions from utility here.

It was reported that Illinois Power Co. has increased its pledge to $2,835 for this year's campaign and the employees have pledged or contributed $1,914, a 39% increase over last year.

A demonstration of the operation of voting machines conducted in ten county locations, four of them in the Quad-Cities, will be extended through to Nov. 10, Miss Hotz said.

Contributors from the East St. Louis and Alton areas, Wards 1 and 2, will total $1,400 and the employees have pledged $1,914, a 39% increase over last year.

A 15% increase in giving also was reported from Union Electric Co. employees, who pledged $1,932 for the campaign.

Samuel R. Sampson, manager for the commercial drive division, reported that Granite City Trust & Savings employees had increased their donations 5%.

"It has been a very long time since we have asked each bank to increase their giving each year and this year they again followed the fine tradition," Sampson said.

A check for $1,050 was presented to the UF leadership at the meeting by Thomas Reach, a business representative of International Association of Machinists District 9; it was a contribution from all of the business representatives in the St. Louis area.

Year 1972 of approximately $4,000,000," Gray said.

He said this is necessarily a tentative estimate, subject to change as final completion costs are determined on the two large contracts at St. Louis Car. Final shipments of all transit cars now on order will be made shortly after the end of January 1973.

"We reported earlier this year that our notes payable to banks had been extended to Nov. 30, 1972," Gray said. "A plan for restructuring GSF's debt and indebtedness to the banks and other lenders is now being prepared."

The five other GSF operating divisions are National Roll Division, a producer of cast iron and cast steel rolls used in steel mills; and a unit for the reduction of non-ferrous metals.

Flex-O-Lite Division, a major producer of reflective products for highway and traffic safety; Sulfur Pipe Division, the leading U.S. applicator of protective coatings and wrappings to steel pipe and a producer of extruded plastic.

Jaycee Mock Election Saturday at Six Polls

The Granite City Jaycees will hold their mock election Saturday with balloting taking place between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at six polling booths located in downtown Granite City and two suburban shopping centers.

Kenneth Wallace, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Wallace, 2812 Warren Ave., was injured when he was struck by a hit-and-run vehicle on the sidewalk at 2920 Faith Ave. at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of abrasions and contusions to the right knee and leg was released following x-rays.

A witness to the police that a driver of a green station wagon turned from Sunset Avenue onto Faith, jumped the curb, struck the boy and left without slowing. He was described as being young with long, brownish-blond hair.

A complete ticket of national, state and county candidates will be used and the voting results will be announced in Monday's issue of the Press-Record, Partney said.

Polling booths will be located at W. W. Woolworth and J. J. Newberry stores on 19th Street; at Reese Drug Store and Tri-City Grocery Store in Bellemore Village Shopping Center; and at the Granite City Department Store and Green Drug Store in Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

Michael J. Siebert Earns Eagle Award

Michael J. Siebert, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Siebert, 3015 Iowa St., was presented the Eagle Scout award Tuesday evening in ceremonies at the Sacred Heart Church.

Siebert is a junior assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 18, sponsored by Sacred Heart church, and is a member of Explorers P. O. 104, sponsored by the Madison Police Club Department and the Lions Club.

Young Siebert is a Brotherhood member of the Order of the Arrow and vice-chair of the Unihwa (Quad-Cities) chapter. He is a member of the Camp Sun-Heen staff last year.

If the state persists in collecting the sum immediately, several major road improvement projects to which the city is committed could be threatened, Mayor Donald Partney said.

These include the Johnson Road improvement for which the city has called bids for next Monday, and the improvement of Maryville Road, a joint county-city program.

The request for payment to the state was presented the same Monday night by a letter from Mayor B. Larson, and the City Executive to the new

W. F. "Mick" Strange, Madison member of the Cahokia Mound Council executive board and council activity chairman, issued the official charge and presented him an Eagle Scout.

The young man then presented his mother and father with a miniature Eagle pins.

Following the Eagle presentation, Ted Schaefer, vice-chairman of the Unihwa district, presented first - class Scout awards to Cliff Loyet and Dan Siebert. He then presented Scout Harold Papp with the Star Scout award and a three year service pin.

One year service stars were presented by Scoutmaster Gundlach to Mike and Mark Hilsman, Tom Antoff, Kenny Williamson, Dan Siebert and Loyet.

The highway engineer suggested two methods of payment. He said the city could either oblige by a lump sum payment or could authorize deductions of $25,000 each from the city's monthly allocation of motor fuel taxes distributed by the state.

He noted that an additional city share of approximately $3,750 still is outstanding due to an unsettled claim on one parcel of right-of-way which is expected to cost about $15,000. The parcel is involved in a condemnation proceeding still in court.

Noting that payment of the obligation at this time would work a considerable hardship on the city, MFTF, the county approved a motion by Alderman Thomas Boker that a meeting be arranged between state highway officials and city representatives to seek "a more lenient arrangement."

Mayor Partney told the council that the money has been paid to the state since the Nameoki Road improvement was completed in 1968, but that the state had not received payment for the portion of the highway over the one remaining parcel of right-of-way.

Expected Bill

"I have known for some time that we were going to get a bill like this, and the time is coming when we are going to have to pay it up," he added.

The Nameoki Road improvement was constructed in 1966 and 1967 in the north section from 23rd Street to the north section of 162nd Street. The section from 23rd Street to Highway 162, was completed in 1968. Electric signals were installed at 23rd Street and at the Highway 162 intersection.

Mayor Partney said that if the city is required to make $25,000 monthly payments until the bill is paid, the city would receive about $100 per month in motor fuel tax allocations during the 10-month period over which the payments would be made.

The city normally receives from $30,000 to $35,000 monthly

City Billed $249,000 For Nameoki Road Job

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

A request by the Illinois State Department of Transportation that Granite City pay the state $249,086 as its share of the Nameoki Road improvement made nearly five years ago will pose major financing problems in the city's motor fuel tax fund, City Council members agreed Tuesday night.

Young Siebert is a Brotherhood member of the Order of the Arrow and vice-chair of the Unihwa (Quad-Cities) chapter. He is a member of the Camp Sun-Heen staff last year.

The city normally receives from $30,000 to $35,000 monthly in state-allocated motor fuel tax money.

The city now is committed to more than $1 million in MFT projects, including the $249,086 debt owed to the Nameoki Road.

Marshall Road project. These include $300,000 which has been committed by resolution as the city's share of improving Maryville Road, a project in which the county is to provide $1.5 million of the cost.

Another $347,728 is involved in the Johnson Road project which has been the city's priority road improvement project for the past three years, but which has been delayed because of difficulties in securing easements.

Bids have been called for the Johnson Road project and are to be opened next week.

The highway engineer said officials only a week ago approved plans for improvement of Bromley Avenue from 23rd Street to Washington Avenue at an estimated cost of $81,172, to be paid by motor fuel taxes.

A contract also has been awarded for improvement of Pontoon Road from Franklin Avenue to Maryville Road. It will cost the city another $29,000, to be paid by motor fuel taxes.

City Treasurer Paul Rutledge said the city now has $190,000 in motor fuel tax funds in certificates of deposit and about $100,000 in cash.

Statute on Tax Liability Cited For Aldermen

A report on an existing state statute which prohibits any person from holding the office of aldermen if he is in arrears in the payment of taxes was submitted to the City Council Monday night by City Attorney Leon Sogard.

The report said:

"It has been called to my attention that on the 9th day of October, 1972, the Granite City Council, in a meeting, adopted a list of those individuals who were delinquent in the payment of their personal property tax.

"Those delinquencies included two aldermen, Emerald Davis and Fred Schuler. Section 3-1-1, Chapter 24, Illinois Revised Statutes provides in part as follows:

"No person shall be eligible to the office of alderman:

"(2) If he is in arrears in the payment of any tax or other indebtedness due to the City . . ."

"It was felt that the corporate authorities should be advised of this fact and the existing statute . . .

"Said the council that 'I don't know what this is all about. It is ridiculous. I have always paid every penny of my taxes. I will look into this and you can be assured, it will be cleared up.'"

Dawes said he was surprised at the notice because all of his taxes have always been paid. "I don't know what they (the personal tax) have been paid because a bookkeeper handles my accounts and I will have to check with him."

City Treasurer Paul Rutledge said the city council had considerable confusion in billing personal property taxes has resulted during the past several years from various laws taking effect, property tax bills being books, and court rulings putting the taxes back on the books.

"There has been a number of taxpayers who have called my office informing me they are not receiving a bill," the treasurer said.

Trojans to Face Francis Howell On Friday Night

It will be the Madison Trojans traveling west to meet the Vikings of Francis Howell High School of St. Louis in a grid contest at 8 p.m.

Fans attending, according to Bob Droege, the Viking coach, should take Interstate 70 west to I-64, then turn north to Central School Road and then right to St. Peter's Road. The field is one mile on the left side of St. Peter's Road.

The Vikings were winners of the Gateway Athletic Conference last year with a 4-0 record and were 8-1 overall. They are 4-3 this season and the Trojans are 1-3.

The top defensive player for Francis Howell is Mike Cookley, a tackle who is 6-2, 200 and averages seven tackles a game.

Sophomore Quarterback
The Vikings regular quarterback, Terry Casper, is out in the first game of the season and has been replaced by a sophomore, John Gammon, 6-0, 155.

Averaging more than 70 yards a game running is Viking fullback, Rob Schaefer, 6-0, 175 junior.

Howell has two good receivers, Mark Ranken 6-0, 180 jun., John Hanner and Jim Clark, 6-0, 175 senior.

Using a five man line on defense, the Vikings use a split backfield with a wing flanker on offense.

The Trojans are hurting from injuries, according to Glasper, Chris Stanley and Paul Thompson are out of action.

only a very small team physically but a team where only two players have three years of experience.

"When you have a team that is as inexperienced as we are, it is important that you make mistakes. You have to make so many mistakes, we could play ourselves into loose."

Coach Al Wonder Hanner quipped.

"All we can do is keep going over and over the fundamentals of the game and hope they listen, and if we can't teach them, then we can't listen to an uneven count and bang, we're off sides."

Play Running Back

"Charlie Johnson will be playing running back and Joe Young will go into the wing back slot. When you're small and you get injuries, you have to have a 155 pounder go up against a 200 plus player. They can't keep it up for a full game. On a percentage basis we have had more injuries than the Vietnamese."

The Cougars are hurting from injuries, according to Glasper, Chris Stanley and Paul Thompson are out of action.

Hints on Hunting Safety Are Offered as Season Nears

With open seasons for much of the upland game coming early in November and many hunters flocking to the fields, a few hunting safety hints are passed along from A. Frank Bridges, retired Southern Illinois University safety specialist at Carbondale.

It is during the hunting season that extra caution is needed to cut down on accidental shootings that are responsible for most hunting injuries, the news media. A little thoughtfulness and care would eliminate most of the tragic hunting accidents, Prof. Bridges says.

Here are hunting safety reminders:

Handle every gun as if it were loaded. Too many accidental shootings happen with so-called "unloaded" gun. Remove any ammunition from the day's hunting if it is finished before reaching the automobile for the trip home to another location. Guns must be empty and cased while being transported in a car.

While hunting, always carry

1st-Rated Cougars to Meet Quincy in Homecoming Game

The undefeated Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were rated first in Midwestern college football again this week as they go into their Homecoming battle with Quincy College at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

The 3-2 record against top opponents, the Cougars accumulated seven first place votes and seven second place.

The Cougars were boosted from the eighth spot to the top of the ladder after victories over University of Missouri, St. Louis, and Michigan State College.

Cougar-Bill Soccer Tilt Time Changed

Starting time of the Bronze Bull soccer game between St. Louis University and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been changed from 2 to 2:30 p.m.

The change was made because the St. Louis Cardinals football team will be on national television that Sunday starting at noon.

Top Pass Swiper

Harold James of Madison, former linebacker on the Northeast Missouri State University football team, has pushed his way to the top of the pass interception list in recent years before using it for hunting or shooting. Keep the gun in good working condition at all times.

It is most important to be certain of the target before pulling the trigger to shorten the time between shots.

Check the gun barrel for game especially in the plinking areas. Shooting at something moving but not entirely visible often leads to tragic accidents. Never point a gun at anything you don't intend to shoot.

It is most important to be certain of the target before pulling the trigger to shorten the time between shots.

Do not store loaded guns in the house. Guns and ammunition ought to be stored separately, preferably in locked cabinets where children cannot get to them.

Young persons interested in hunting should receive adequate instruction from parents or other experienced persons on gun safety and proper usage.

Shooting at something moving but not entirely visible often leads to tragic accidents. Never point a gun at anything you don't intend to shoot.

Dangers of hunting accidents increase with the number of persons in the hunting party. When a group of persons is hunting, it is important that all members remain within sight of each other, stay in a reasonably straight line, and have some understanding about who shoots at game in a specified area. A person in the group who is careless or many become excited by the sight of game may start shooting to waste someone else in the hunting party.

Do not store loaded guns in the house. Guns and ammunition ought to be stored separately, preferably in locked cabinets where children cannot get to them.

Young persons interested in hunting should receive adequate instruction from parents or other experienced persons on gun safety and proper usage.

Gateway Calls Special Meet on Land Use Plan

Action on a land use plan for the St. Louis metropolitan area was deferred by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council yesterday until a special meeting Nov. 21.

Eugene C. Moody, executive director of the Gateway Council staff, told the members at the meeting yesterday in St. Louis that the date for submitting the plan is Dec. 31.

He said if the plan is not submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development by that deadline, the council will lose its certification to approve federally-funded programs.

The council voted to request an extension of time from HUD, but Moody expressed his opinion that the extension would not be granted.

"Every indicator we have is that Dec. 31 is a firm date and that HUD will not wait," Moody stated.

John Beloff of Madison, President of the Western Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission and thereby a member of the Gateway board, said that the issue is of such importance that the plan should not be called to a vote until it is sufficiently improved to adequately understand the land use plan before it is approved.

Plan Criticized

Many Illinois officials have been critical of the tentative plan saying that it would discourage development in flood plains, including large areas of the Quad-Cities.

The Executive Advisory Board of the Gateway Council has planned meetings for Nov. 1 and 12 to refine the plan before it is presented to the board of directors.

In other action yesterday, the board approved a resolution allowing the establishment of a task force to study port development along the Mississippi River.

The resolution directs the Gateway staff to convene meetings of interested groups within the next 30 days and to recommend names for the task force to the council Dec. 31.

The resolution also declared the port study as "of high range highway improvement program which identifies those road improvement programs which will be given priority for improvement in the next five years."

Area Improvements

The program includes numerous Quad-City area improvements. They are:

Route 151 — construct four lanes from Niedringhaus Avenue to Broadway in Venetia and "priority" in future planning by the Gateway staff.

The board approved a short-term plan from McKinley Bridge in Venetia to Main Street as part of the Route 151 project; Route 157 — from U. S. 50 to Lake Drive, four lanes; Route 203 (under construction) — widen to four lanes.

Route 45 (Maryville Road) — extend from Pomona Road to Route 162, four lanes; Route 203 at Fehling and Johnson roads — traffic signals; Interstate 270 — waterproof and resurface the Chain of Rocks Bridge in Marion.

Other local projects in the short-range plan include improvement of the Madison intersections at 20th, 23rd and 27th streets and at Niedringhaus Avenue.

Investment Policies Assailed, Defended

Investment policies of Circuit Clerk Willard Portell were assailed yesterday by his Nov. 7 opponent, Lloyd Bennett, who said deposits of various amounts are earning 3% from the Collinsville State Bank, 4% from the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank and First National Bank. In Marion, 4% from First City, 4% from First National, Alton Bank & Trust and Wood River Bank, and 4.5% at the Bank of Edwardsville.

Brentley estimated that interest earnings of the office could be raised from $8,000 yearly to $28,000 through investing the $201,685 total revenue rather than $253,000, which he described as "one-third of the budget."

Madison County Auditor John Kraynak said the accusation is unfounded. He added that Portell does not have all of the revenue of the office in his investment; most is turned over to county treasurer each month to meet expenses of the county's general fund.

The average interest rate received by the circuit clerk is "pretty good," Kraynak said. "It's not as much as we could get," he said, "but it's about 4% on U. S. Treasury bills."

AUTO JUMPS DIVIDER

Clyde A. Tyler, 2604 Probes Ave., was charged with leaving his car on a bridge, accidentally hitting his auto and another driven by James A. Warford, 2402 Washington Ave., at 11:40 p.m. Wednesday at 2403 Washington Ave.

ARRESTED AFTER MISHAP

With the present building at 20th Street and Edgewood, it will be possible for the "Y" to continue providing a variety of services to this community while remaining a part of the facilities of Downtown Granite City.

The adjudication committee of the YMCA Board has decided to remain in Downtown, raising and replacing its sanctuary rather than building at a new location.

Red China Joins Foreign Aid Club

By ATHUR C. MILLER

Copley News Service

Hong Kong—China is becoming one of the largest and most eager foreign aid donors in the world.

At a time when the value of foreign assistance programs is being questioned by growing numbers of Americans, the Chinese have been a boosting factor in the foreign aid effort to non-Communist developing countries.

Although China has been an aid giver for many years, its assistance effort really began taking off only in 1970, when the Chinese had offered loans and grants totaling an estimated $2 billion.

A huge chunk of that — $400 million — was committed in 1970 to Tanzania and Zambia for construction of a railway system between the two African nations.

Today economic and technical assistance offered by Peking last year amounted to some $600 million. Exact totals are impossible to determine since the Chinese frequently do not disclose the amounts of the loans and grants they have signed so far for 1971—including a $300-million loan to Malta—the trend of the last two years is that the amount and total aid outlays may reach an all-time high in 1972.

Among countries now receiving Chinese economic and technical aid are Iraq, Ethiopia, Sierra Leone, Peru, Guyana, Surinam, Costa Rica, Chad, Turkey, Pakistan and Malta.

Aids Other Nations

This is not to mention the aid China gives to Communist nations, including North Vietnam, North Korea, Romania and Albania.

BENEFITS EXPLAINED

Benefits available to them after discharge have now been described to 1,800,000 military personnel serving in Vietnam. Donald E. Johnson, Administrator of the Veterans Administration, said the agency has expanded its Outreach program.

More than 240,000 personal interviews with servicemen in Noting the seriousness of stormwater drainage needs in the large geographic area known as Dobrey Slough, Governor Richard B. Ogilvie has formally sought $4,225,000 in federal funds for the conduit planned by the state and the Quad-City area to Horseshoe Lake, it was announced Tuesday.

The request was submitted to

Col. Guy E. Jester, engineer of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, under Public Law 99.

State participation of $375,000 is proposed, and the state has agreed to accept operation and maintenance costs.

Col. Jester hopes to forward the plan to the Chief of Engineers office this week or next is great.

land Barber Shop, 2133 Pontoon

RESULTS!!

"The experts dispatched by China to help in construction in the recipient countries will have the same standard of living as the experts of the recipient countries. The Chinese experts are not allowed to make any special demands or enjoy any special amenities."

The last principle, that of having China's workers live in the same standard of living as the experts of the recipient countries, is being adhered to and has won China much praise from countries receiving its aid.

Shun Foreign Aid

While providing increasing amounts of foreign aid, China is becoming more skeptical of its economic and technical assistance offered by its foreign donors.

China usually provides both economic and technical assistance for development projects with its aid. In return, China accepts the production of the recipient country in repayment of loans.

Peking also is offering a fetish of its own: it offers assistance without any strings. The Chinese have laid down eight principles of major plants were left half completed, and the Russians took their blueprints with them, making it extremely difficult for the Chinese to complete the Soviet-assisted project.

While China may not attach visible strings to its economic and technical assistance, there can be no doubt that Peking has some ulterior motives in offering its aid.

The Chinese are making it increasingly clear that they want to become the leader of the so-called third world, or the developing countries of Africa and Latin America. Seemingly selfless aid is one way China is trying to achieve that end.

Renovate, Continue to Operate Present YMCA

The Tri-City Area YMCA will attempt to renovate its new building fund drive in 1973. The drive had been announced earlier this year for January 1973.

Dr. E. W. Walton, president of the YMCA board, said the economic conditions have not been sufficiently improved to allow board members to recommend names for the task force to the council Dec. 31.

The resolution directs the Gateway staff to convene meetings of interested groups within the next 30 days and to recommend names for the task force to the council Dec. 31.

U.S.-Soviet Joint Space Missions Seen After '75

Copley News Service

Space cooperation has been谈 for years ago. It has taken that long for the United States and the Soviet Union to shift from all-out competition to cooperation in significant space programs.

In the same span, Congress has moved from "how" to "how" Americans and Russians can work together in space ventures. And with the U. S.-Soviet summit announcement of a joint Apollo - Soyuz rendezvous and docking mission mid-1975 sign, even bolder cooperative flights beyond that.

For a decade U. S. space officials have been trying to match technology with their Soviet counterparts. Except for token exchanges of minor information, the 10 years have been barren for the federal space agency.

Russia took the attitude that what it learned about space was nobody's business.

All Seemed to Change

But all that seemed to change a few months ago when President Nixon went to Moscow. There were reports well in advance of his summit mission that a joint space adventure was in the offing. And it developed that as early as Aug. 28, 1970, the first of several space docking agreements was approved.

The U. S.-Soviet space agreement signed in Moscow May 24 underscores the fact that the space program can be one of the most productive instruments for meaningful international relations, as Thomas Paine, former administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, emphasized this year.

The Moscow pact, publicized globally because it called for the joint rendezvous docking maneuver and a ride around the world with American and Russian spacemen side by side, goes further than that.

It also provides for such exciting joint projects as "space meteorology," the environmental monitoring of near-earth space, the moon and the planets; space biology and medicine."

In The Future

None of these goals can be achieved during the brief 1973 joint program. That will take time. Agency officials are interpreting the past as the forerunner of U. S.-Russian space ventures continuing into the next 10 or 15 years.

The agreement's reference to "the moon" especially is provocative, for its hints that eventually American astronauts and Soviet cosmonauts may journey to man's natural satellite together.

NASA officials already are looking ahead to the prospect of joint U. S. Russian flights beyond the 1975 mission.

After the 1973 Skylab series and the joint mission, the agency has three Apollo command-service modules left in the inventory. NASA wants to use them, hopefully, in other ventures with the Russians.

First, of course, the 1975 mission must be successful.

Madison Council Ok's Repair of Fire Station

Members of the Madison Fire Department have agreed to pay a year's rent for use of the fire station building on Third Street, formerly of Granite City. Burial was at the Chapel of the Chimes, Hayward, Calif.

Mr. Buzick died at 6:40 a.m. Sunday in Memorial Hospital, San Leandro, Calif. A native of Gilzerken, Germany, she was granted to Granite City more than 34 years prior to her death in 1968.

Her husband, John Gunther, preceded her in death.

Survivors include six children.

Leonard Buzick of Staunton, Ronald Buzick of Granite City, Elmer Buzick of Elkhorn, Calif., Floyd Buzick of Carson City, Nev., and Lloyd Buzick and Arthur Buzick, both of Hayward, Calif.; 34 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Keep Pets Indoors at Trick-or-Treat Time

Quad-City pet owners are reminded to confine their animals during the Halloween weekend to prevent them from getting into a frighteningly trick-or-treaters and straying from their own neighborhoods and becoming lost.

Mrs. Judith Johnson, president of the Quad-City Association for the Protection of Animals, said that pets frequently become disturbed and over-excited when children in masquerade costumes visit homes. She suggested that owners keep animals restricted or indoors during the trick-or-treat period.

The aldermen were notified by Dr. Elmer Smith, director of the Madison County Emergency Employment Program, that the city's share to support the program in November amounts to $290.

A $38,000 appropriation for motor fuel tax funds for street and road maintenance in 1973 was recommended by the engineering firm of Sheppard, Morgan and Schwab.

Stop signs were authorized at the intersection of Rhodes Street at the request of residents, who reported the roadway is being used "as a race track." The signs will be placed at the intersection of Rhodes and Fairmont, Milan and McNair streets.

Signs of Streets Elmer Smith was given permission to use for his new dump truck for use of the street department. Specifications may be obtained from City Clerk John Bellcoff, or Smith.

Bills totaling $20,813 were apportioned for payment.

Damage was estimated at $400 in fire at the home of Anna Hubbell, 1007 Wayne Ave., at 10:40 a.m. Tuesday. It was caused by a limit switch on a furnace in the basement. Smoke spread through the house.

These are some of the goals scheduled for the two days the space vehicles of each country are to be joined in flight:

Would Test System

1. Testing of the compatible rendezvous system in earth orbit—to make sure it works.

2. Docking assembly tests to determine if they are reliable enough to be used as a test for future joint missions. (The United States and Russia have different docking procedures, which made necessary the addition of a docking adapter with a probe on either end and an air-lock tunnel through the middle for crew transfers.)

3. Testing of various techniques for exchange of astronauts between the two countries and between the docked space vehicles.

4. A trial run of activities available to each man crew members during the joint flight.

5. A test of possible procedures during emergency space rescue operations. This is a vital trial run, for space officials of both nations believe the first techniques for space rescue of disabled earth-orbiting craft.

NASA officials estimate the cost of the U. S.-Russian mission at $230 million, including development of the docking adapter, the equipment and engineering. That's not excessive, they point out, compared to the average $450 million price tag on each Apollo manned moon flight.

NASA officials estimate the cost of the U. S.-Russian mission at $230 million, including development of the docking adapter, the equipment and engineering. That's not excessive, they point out, compared to the average $450 million price tag on each Apollo manned moon flight.

These are some of the goals scheduled for the two days the space vehicles of each country are to be joined in flight:

Would Test System

1. Testing of the compatible rendezvous system in earth orbit—to make sure it works.

2. Docking assembly tests to determine if they are reliable enough to be used as a test for future joint missions. (The United States and Russia have different docking procedures, which made necessary the addition of a docking adapter with a probe on either end and an air-lock tunnel through the middle for crew transfers.)

3. Testing of various techniques for exchange of astronauts between the two countries and between the docked space vehicles.

MR. AND MRS. J. KEVIN LUCHT. The bride is the former Miss Sandra L. Deatherage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Deatherage, 4380 Lake Drive. They exchanged wedding vows at the Mitchell United Presbyterian Church.

Sandra Deatherage and J. Kevin Lucht Are Wed

The bride, Sandra Deatherage, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Deatherage, 4380 Lake Drive, and J. Kevin Lucht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto C. Lucht, 509 W. Woodhill Drive, Decatur, Ill., was solemnized on Oct. 3 at the Mitchell United Presbyterian Church.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening was the Rev. William Rep.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Deatherage chose a gown fashioned of satin-backed ivory faille, designed with a high neck, long sleeves and an Empire bodice of intricate lace trim. The long skirt terminated with a wide ruffle of lace at the hem.

Petite roses created of net formed the headpiece, securing the shoulder length veil of illusion.

Home Notes

DEVELOP PRE-SCHOOLER'S READING INTEREST

The most natural, healthful way to interest your child in books is to read to him.

In order to capture a child's attention and teach him to read, parents sometimes force the use of devices that have the opposite effect. For instance, aids such as flash cards and alphabet blocks may be able to "read" with you.

help develop some skills. But by forcing them upon children, you may be developing a hostile resistance to books.

Read to your child as soon as he is old enough to sit still and listen. He may not even be old enough to understand the words, but he will still enjoy being with you, hearing the sound of your voice and watching your facial expressions.

Sitting so you both can see the paper together, you can relate the written and spoken words. Books with pictures help him relate to the story. And as he continues to develop, he will be able to "read" with you.

SCHOOL PHOBIA

Many young children suffer from "school phobia."

Crying, refusal to take part in classwork, vomiting, running or a fever are all symptoms of the ailment.

School phobia can be traced to the home in which a child's desire to be an individual is squelched.

If your child is never allowed out of your sight, has few opportunities to associate with other children, and is rarely left alone with other people, he will find it difficult to accept a situation without you. As a result, school can become a frightening experience.

School phobia is neither uncommon nor incurable. But you can help prevent it by letting your child associate with others in his pre-school years.

Potential Van Gogh, 2, Likes to Draw on Walls

By DR. WILLARD ABRAHAM
Copley News Service

Q. Our house is a mess, all because our 2-year-old loves crayons but doesn't know that they're not to use on walls. So there is a drawing of Van Gogh's drawing on the wall! I've scolded, spanked and deprived. But nothing has worked. Any ideas?

A. What kind of crayons have you given to him? Washable ones and large sheets of paper or cardboard to draw on may be the answer.

Making the crayons available only in certain rooms (his room, for example, if you can make it indestructible enough) might also help cut down your mental strain.

Your disciplinary approaches should satisfy your needs a bit, but they also are probably successful in reducing his initiative and creativity.

"Good!" you might say. "A little less of that kind of creativity will be fine." But if your 2-year-old is still too young for that, then it's time to let your child learn to conform to a restrictive environment without going out of your way to do so.

Let Him Draw

So any way you can encourage his creativity will be fine. If you can't do it, then don't be used. Let him draw with materials and in a location that you select. Later on you'll have more difficulty choosing the circumstances. At 2, you still ought to be able to control his environment to some extent.

Q. There are so many books and articles on parent-child relationships. The experts and librarians seem to overwhelm us parents. Please help us with them. So here's a tough one: If you were asked to select just one book as a guide for parents, which would you choose? Just one?

A. That's really difficult. Gersh, Dreikurs, Spock, Hymes and many, many other old-timers come to mind, and so do numerous current counterparts. They're all valuable in their own way, and in helping parents cope with specific problems.

But if I were to choose only one, perhaps it would be "The Sense of Wonder" by Rachel Carson. Parents can, of course, use others profitably in connection with techniques related to child care and health, but Rachel Carson's book gives a point of view that is basic, warm, and supportive.

I'm curious about what you and other parents would select.

Two Problems

Q. Our baby-sitter is great with our young children. She plays with them very patiently, and follows out instructions. Maybe it's a little thing that bothers her, but she doesn't wear shoes and her fingernails need some attention.

Let's face it, they're dirty. I know she uses her hands, but I certainly don't want our children to pick up her habits. She's 16 years old.

A. If those two factors concern you that much, you might consider trying to be as careful as possible. Your comments could be based on this kind of an approach: She's the best sitter we've ever had — your children love her — but there are just two small things that bother you — so —

I wouldn't worry about your youngsters picking up unclean habits on the basis of these items, not if you stress cleanliness in reasonable ways and set an example for them.

Q. Are only children really brighter than others?

A. Not necessarily. Their intelligence depends on a number of factors, such as what they've inherited, who their parents are, the environment in which they're growing up, in school, and in the wide community.

May Seem Brighter

They may seem brighter because parents of only children often have more time for them to develop. It's hard to share their limited time with only one child. A solitary child in the family may participate in more conversations, see more museums, galleries and exhibits in the community, and take more trips.

And then, perhaps it's true that there are more only children in families at middle or upper income levels than in lower socio-economic groups. That may mean that they then reflect the time and enrichment available to them, and therefore may appear to be brighter.

A more important question is this: What is the potential of this child, regardless of family placement or the number of children in the family? And the answer can probably be: What can be done about that potential, at home, in school, and in the wide community?

General Assembly Changes Certain After Election

By RAY SERATI

Copley News Service
Springfield — There certainly are going to be some changes in the Illinois General Assembly after the Nov. 7 election. At least 57 seats will be open for this year's election. This includes a rather large number of legislators who are retiring, primary election losses, and some deaths.

Of course this does not take into account the possibility that some incumbents could be knocked off during the Nov. 7 general election.

In the Senate there are 12 Republicans and six Democrats who are calling it quits. After several years of serving in the General Assembly they will retire when their term ends at the end of the year.

One Senate Democrat is seeking a state office—Sen. Thomas Lyons running for attorney general and one Democrat died—Sen. Williams Lyons of Gillespie.

Over in the House nine Republicans and four Democrats are retiring. The remainder are either seeking another office or got beat in the March primary election. There have been four deaths—two Republicans and two Democrats.

GOP Has Control

Presently the Republicans have control of the House with a 57 majority. Senator W. Robert Blair of Park Forest is hopeful that the GOP will be able to hold on and control the body.

He is hoping that the Republicans can possibly add to the margin. But the House Democrats are not just sitting down either. They are hopeful that perhaps some inroads can be made, possibly in the usually Downstate southern encircles. In the Senate, the Democrats have held the sway. After the last election the Senate was evenly divided between the Democrats and Republicans at 26-26. Gov. George Simon was also a Democrat and allowed to vote with the Democrats in organizing the Senate, the Democrats ended up controlling the committee.

But it was a hard time to get anything passed in that body since it takes 30 votes for passage.

Sen. Cecil A. Partee, Chicago, the Democratic leader in the Senate, is hoping that the Democrats can hold on to their Chicago seats and possibly hold on to the seats they now have in the new Senate. He is also hoping that the Democrats will be able to get another seat or even two Downstate, the Democrats would be in good position in the Senate.

In the House, the legislators who are retiring, say they are doing so because of the annual legislative sessions.

Cong. Price Endorsed By Education Group

Cong. Melvin Price, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 23rd congressional District, has been endorsed for re-election on Nov. 7 by the Illinois Education Association's Political Action Committee, it was announced this week.

Endorsing Cong. Price, the committee said: "This endorsement is based on your fine performance in behalf of quality education in prior sessions of Congress."

Cong. Price replied: "Quality education is the cornerstone of democracy. I have been dedicated to this principle in my work. I am proud to have this endorsement."

Busing of Madison Pupils Depends on Court Suit

The issue of busing students in the Madison School District to and from school is now pending in circuit court at Edwardsville is resolved. Chester McManaway, serving as acting president, told the October meeting of the Madison Board of Education.

McManaway, who was appointed acting president in the absence of Harold Fisk, responded to questions about busing by members of the Madison School District Parents' Club formerly the Madison Harris School Mothers' Club.

McManaway explained that the district is the defendant in a circuit court suit on integration. It is to be heard in Edwardsville on May 20.

The hearing will involve the third count of a suit filed by six mothers of West Madison school children.

Coinfirms in the suit are Mrs. Barbara Madison, Mrs. Joyce Crawford, Mrs. Alice Jackson, Mrs. Eloise Wiggin and Mrs. Effora Smith. Rex Carr is attorney for the group.

With Court Counts

The first count asked for equal education of junior high school students at Dunbar School and the second count requested bus transportation to Madison Junior High School to West Madison.

The third count involves kindergarten through sixth-grade students at Dunbar and Blair schools and petitions for integration of these all-black schools.

Since it already has been established by the court that West Madison students must be bused if they attend Madison schools east of State Street, it is felt that victory by the parents on this count would mean the busing of white elementary school children to the West Madison schools.

McManaway told the parents he hoped the school year will not be disturbed by moving students if the parents win the residents of the district to help determine whether such a committee would be worthwhile.

In the hearing the board —Agreed to meet with representatives of the custodians' union to arrange contract negotiations.

—Accepted a petition from teachers wishing an election to accept or reject the Madison

Education Association as bargaining agent for the teachers.

The board is to set a date for the election.

Maeras Named to National Crime 'Watch' Program

Madison County Sheriff John Maeras announced this week that he has been chosen to participate in the National Sheriff's Association's efforts to reduce burglaries and larceny nationally and in Madison County.

Lucas commented that, for the program to be successful, the cooperation of law-abiding citizens is essential.

The specific crimes of burglary and larceny were chosen as the focal point of the program by the National Sheriff's Association because burglary and larceny have increased 100% during the past five years.

They, therefore, represent a countrywide problem and approximately 70% of all reported crimes, nationwide.

Maeras said that he will assume the added responsibility and will provide details of Operation Neighborhood Watch to the public as soon as they are received.

Lucas said he will be watching Madison County during the coming months to determine the program's success, as compared to other selected counties across the nation.

SIU Resources Cut Despite Increased State Funding

Although state funding for operations of the Southern Illinois University System was increased by $3 million over the past three years there was an actual reduction of $8.5 million, James M. Brown, chair of board of trustees, has reported to the SIU Board of Trustees.

Explaining that the University had continued to offer essentially the same educational services despite an "erosion of resources," Brown pointed out that the new state program had cost SIU $1.9 million, commitments to salary increases, $6 million, and increases for new programs, particularly those related to health, $4.1 million.

The analysis of state funding showed that maintenance of educational services at virtually the same level over the three years and support of these new missions and other programs had been possible only by major reductions in some areas and elimination of certain operations.

Reductions included: operation and maintenance of physical plant, almost $2 million; organized activities related to education departments, more than $1 million; research, more than one-half million dollars; foundations and public agencies, almost $1 million; and libraries, more than $1 million.

Only "functional" increases over the three years was in instructional and departmental research, $8.6 million.

Also presented the analysis by Brown were the results

Three Employed as Aides to Teachers

Three new teacher aides have been hired at the Madison School Board.

Employed were Betty Rogers for Harris School, Mary Cameron for Louis Baer School and Linda Johnson for Dunbar School. The board also recognized two new teacher aide vacancies, one created by the death of Miss Magnolia Hamilton in an auto accident and the other by the resignation of Mrs. Dolphie Uherich.

Mrs. Sophie Leleniewski was hired as a substitute cook to work three hours per day at Madison High School, and Linda Wilson was retained as a substitute custodian at the school during the illness of another custodian.

The board denied a request for sabbatical leave for the district's speech therapist. Board members indicated that the request was denied "only because of the financial problems of the district beyond our control." The district has been attempting to trim expenses because of a projected deficit this school year.

She has more than 10 years of diversified business experience which has helped her to develop and implement effective programs for management, supervisory and safety field personnel and employees at all levels at the State Compensation Fund.

The new chapter president has served in the organization as membership chairman in 1969, when the roster expanded from 66 to 100 members, and as secretary in 1970 and vice-president last year.

Brothers Receive Eagle Scout Rank

Paul and David Ramey, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ramey, 2820 Willow Ave., became Eagle Scouts at an Eagle Court of Honor last week in the Nameoki Methodist Church.

The Eagle Scouts are both members of Troop 5 sponsored by the church. Both joined scouting in 1969.

Paul has served as a patrol leader, senior patrol leader and den chief and now is junior assistant Scoutmaster of the Troop.

David also has served as a patrol leader, senior patrol leader and den chief.

The entire family, except for two sons, is involved in the Boy Scout program. A brother, Phillip, is a Cub Scout in Pack 122, and another brother, George, is a Scout in Troop 3. Their older brother Michael is a member of Pack 122.

Their father is serving as an assistant district commissioner, and their mother is a den leader and coach with Cub Pack 122.

Prep Students Excel In Studies at SIUE

High school students from throughout this region are being invited to McKendree College's Fall Festival and Carnival this weekend, according to Mike Schleyer, president of the McKendree College Student Government.

It will be a fall carnival time with rides, 35 booths and lots of entertainment, Schleyer said. There will be free events at which the public and especially high school students will be welcome.

The Coffee House will be open Friday night with free entertainments from the Coffee House circuit. There will be a free dance to a rock band Saturday night, and Sunday evening there will be a free movie, "Twisted Nerve."

There will be a full assortment of carnival rides set up on Alton Street near the gym parking lot.

Hot and cold drinks will be sold by campus organizations and by organizations from Lebanon. The Lebanon Jaycees will be among them.

The festival hours Friday will be 10, Saturday noon to 10, and Sunday noon to 6.

Schleyer said the festival is planned to involve the students, to improve relationships between students, to help the college become better known to high school students, and to make money for participating organizations. Any profit the student government makes will be used

Speaks to College Crowd

Nader Urges Citizens To Work for Reforms

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader said here Monday afternoon he is working toward a new kind of "citizenship" than the one generally accepted in America now.

Speaking to more than 1,500 persons at Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville, Nader said positions of full-time citizen activists working to reform single institutions rather than for any single institution should be encouraged.

"Citizenship must become an obligation...we must change the idea that active citizens are troublemakers or mavericks," Nader said. He said where he grew up in New England, and in many other communities, people talk about "the town drunk, the town idler and the town citizen," the guy who asks questions of meaning."

That concept must be altered so that good citizens are thought of as patriots, a label currently reserved for persons favoring national military might, Nader said.

Nader, speaking at SIUE and other area universities to promote the formation of student groups to pressure government, said students can be effective part-time citizen activists by supporting such groups to study environmental, consumer and other problems.

"These groups can fight the silent, cumulative type of violence that environmental pollution is causing in America," Nader said. "There is more to violence than street crime."

Nader said blue collar workers should also be interested in supporting public interest groups because they are exposed to more concentrated forms of pollution in the plants where they work than is any other part of the populace.

"Environmental pollution's first victim is the working man," he said. He said managers and governments have been successful in splitting workers from environmental activists through "scare tactics" such as threatening plant shutdowns if money must be

'Mission Behind the Mill' Marks 54 Years of Service to Community

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

The 54th anniversary of the founding of the Gospel Mission, known as "the mill," will be observed Sunday afternoon with a special program from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Bertha J. Davis, superintendent, and the public is cordially invited to attend and noted that parking is available at the rear of the mission building at 2011 E. 20th St., and on Park and Old Mill roads.

"The two-hour program will honor the ministers, laymen, musicians, teachers and singers who have helped so much in the mission work behind the mill."

Ministers from out-of-town who will take part in Sunday's program are the Rev. Hugh Wallace of Cahokia, the Rev. Robert Webb of Carrollton, the Rev. Larry Hayes of Pittsfield and the Rev. John M. Rion of Springfield.

The four clergymen will be joined by other ministers and laymen who will speak at the Gospel Mission on a regular basis each Sunday and Thursday, Mrs. Davis said.

For 54 years, Sunday school classes were conducted in the grade school building when the program was expanded to include adults.

The first combined service was conducted by 12 adults and six children. Mrs. Davis said, but the Sunday school enrollment quickly began to climb again until once more it was necessary to move.

At that time, the pastor, the Rev. Madge Williams of the Sunshine Mission in St. Louis, will bring a special message.

At 7 p.m. today, the Rev.

Charles Williams of the Sunshine Mission in St. Louis will bring a special message.

Influenced Many

Mrs. Davis noted that nearly every woman in Granite City has members who were converted or baptized at the mission "behind the mill."

The Gospel Mission has brought and influenced many families over a 33-year history. An exact count of the number of women, men and children who have been converted at the altar and were baptized can't be calculated, she said.

Mrs. Davis suffered a period of ill health earlier this year and was hospitalized. In March she traveled to Arlington, Va., where she spent nearly four weeks in the home of her daughter, Madge.

She has since resumed her activities at the mission, a project to which she has dedicated a major part of her life.

She hopes to return for the anniversary program on Sunday.

Mrs. Davis has been a member of the Pastors Building for nine years until transferring to the
